American Life is committed to providing best-in-class annuity products. We combine industry best practices with forward-thinking technology to deliver market-leading products and a seamless customer experience.

A Future Built on Innovation

We believe that planning for your future shouldn't be a process that's stuck in the past. American Life saw an opportunity to integrate cutting-edge technology into an industry that is often laden with outdated systems and complicated processes.

In September 2018 we announced our partnership with FAST, a leading digital platform, making us the first insurance company to be entirely cloud-based.
